2 committees formed for cloud seeding: Govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

AFTER a detailed discussion on the drought situation in Karnataka, the state government on Saturday announced the formation of two committees- Monitoring Committee and Technical Advisory and Evaluation Committee for undertaking cloud seeding.

The committees are being formed under the chairmanship of Water Resources Minister N Cheluvarayaswamy and will comprise officers from the Water Resources Department, Karnataka State National Disaster Monitoring Centre (KSNDMC), Karnataka Neeravari Nigam Limited (KNNL) and Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (RDPR) department.

At the meeting, they also discussed the accorded administrative approval for cloud seeding and the Rs 28.52 crore which has been set aside for the exercise by Kyathi Climate Modification Consultants LLP. The minister said the monitoring committee, headed by the Additional Chief Secretary and Development Commissioner, will guide and review the meteorological conditions and the progress of cloud seeding. This committee will also ensure coordination among all other departments for the effective implementation of the programme.

The Technical Advisory and Evaluation Committee will advise the government on scientific and technical aspects of cloud seeding. It will recommend suitable areas, cloud selection criteria, methodologies, and operational procedures based on rainfall, drought, reservoir inflow, soil moisture, and meteorological conditions. It will also examine satellite imagery for relevant meteorological inputs.

However, weathermen expressed their concern over the cloud formation for undertaking cloud seeding. Sources in KSNDMC said cloud formation and wind are crucial for cloud seeding, and both are not compatible for the exercise at the moment.

More vehicles deployed to check illegal dumping

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru North City Corporation (BNCC) has strengthened its surveillance against illegal dumping of solid waste and Construction & Demolition (C&D) debris by deploying four 'Prahari' vehicles equipped with GPS-enabled front and rear dash cameras.

Two new Prahari vehicles have been added to the two already in operation, with BNCC Commissioner Pommala Sunil Kumar launching the expanded fleet on Saturday. He said the vehicles will patrol the Corporation limits in two shifts.

The Corporation said persons, organisations or vehicles involved in illegal dumping would be identified using the visual evidence and location details, with penalties and other action initiated under applicable rules. "People should not assume that they can dump waste and get away without being noticed," Kumar said.

The surveillance system will also monitor repeated dumping at cleaned black spots to prevent their re-emergence. The vehicles will keep watch on illegal disposal of C&D waste, dumping by commercial establishments and spillage of waste during transportation.

The movement and operations of all four vehicles will be monitored by the Corporation's control room and senior officials through an app. A total of 24 personnel, including drivers and marshals, have been deployed.
