ED arrests ex-OSD of Baghel for role in Chhattisgarh job scam

New Delhi, Agency: Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Monday said it has arrested former Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel's former OSD Chetan Borghariya, who is presently additional collector of Balrampur-Ramanujan, in the case of illegal appointments of DSPs and collectors through exam paper leaks.

ED, which had earlier arrested former state public service commission (PSC) chief Taman Singh Sonwani, claimed it has traced the alleged proceeds of crime linked to bank accounts of Borghariya and other officials.

Borghariya, who was arrested on Sept 11, has been remanded in six-day ED custody by a special PMLA court in Raipur. The agency is probing alleged money laundering relating to irregularities and manipulation in the CGPSC State Service Examinations, 2020 and 2021.

"Investigation revealed that other accused, Utkarsh Chandrakar, Anil Chandrakar and Dr Vikash Chandrakar, allegedly collected illegal gratification exceeding Rs 3 crore from various candidates of 2021 CGPSC examination, on assurance of providing them question papers in advance and securing their selection by using their purported access and influence in the then CM's office," ED said. The probe further revealed that the name and official position of Chetan Borghariya, who was then posted as OSD in CM's office, was allegedly used in connection with such assurances.

Ram temple trust rejects claim ex-Air Marshal Mishra skipped CEO interview round

New Delhi, Agency: Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra has refuted claims that retired Air Marshal Jeetendra Mishra did not participate in the interview rounds of the selection process for the chief executive officer of Ram temple in Ayodhya.

In a statement, trust's general secretary Swami Govind Dev Giri said that the search committee for the CEO conducted a multi-tier evaluation process involving AI-based screening and manual assessment across three cities, Delhi NCR, Pune and Sambalpur.

"The selection process was conducted in accordance with the highest standards of institutional governance and transparency.

Every stage was documented, and the identities of all finalists were recorded in Ayodhya," the statement read.

"The claim that Air Marshal Jeetendra Mishra did not participate in the interview rounds on 11-12 August 2026 is factually incorrect," it added. The trust said that the search committee for the CEO selection process was constituted on July 6, 2026, and received 5,585 applications.

"16 candidates were selected as finalists, who participated in face-to-face interviews in Ayodhya on August 11 and 12, 2026," it said.

Further, the trust said that Mishra participated in the interview process on August 11 during the first session.

The search committee submitted its final report and recommendations to the Trust on September 1, following which the trust publicly presented the names of the three top recommended candidates on September 2. The three candidates included Air Marshal Jeetendra Mishra, Sanjay Pratapsinh Vishwas Rao and Ms Shruti Bharadwaj.

The trust further stated that Mishra's inclusion among the top three recommended candidates was "documentary proof of his participation, evaluation and merit-based selection."

Earlier on September 2, Air Marshal Jeetendra Mishra (retd), who headed the Western Air Command during Operation Sindoor, was appointed as the first Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust. The retired Air Marshal Mishra said he considered the opportunity a blessing of Lord Ram and pledged to serve the temple and devotees with the experience gained during his decades-long service in the Indian Air Force.

"I consider this a great fortune that they chose me from so many candidates. I also consider this the blessings of Lord Ram that after 43 years of service to the nation in the Air Force, He has allowed me to serve Sri Ram Mandir and Sri Ram bhakts," he told Media.

"As I said, I would like to thank the selection committee, Sri Ram Mandir Trust and Lord Ram for having chosen me for this responsibility.

Voluminous evidence in graft cases leading to long pendency: SC

New Delhi, Agency: Flagging the issue of prosecuting agencies filing voluminous evidence and naming large number of witnesses in corruption cases, Supreme Court disapproved of the practice, saying it leads to protracted hearing and long pendency.

While acquitting a person in a 33-year-old corruption case on the ground that CBI failed to prove that he received pecuniary advantage, a bench of Justices J B Pardiwala and K Vinod Chandran expressed concern over the agency naming a large number of unnecessary witnesses to prove the charge.

The court said voluminous documents filed by CBI are intimidating even to the court. "We cannot but notice that in corruption cases voluminous evidence is led, which is often intimidating to the court, especially since many aspects attempted to be led in evidence are way off the mark, in providing a substantiation of the allegation, or to bring home the guilt of the accused public servant," the bench said. The case pertains to a complaint filed by Assam veterinary department alleging that a loss of

Rs 5.97 lakh was caused to the exchequer as payment was made to a fictitious firm for medicines which were never supplied. Seven persons were chargesheeted, of whom four were convicted and sentenced by a trial court and three acquitted.

Three convicts filed an appeal before Gauhati high court. One of them, the accountant who passed the bill, was acquitted, but the petitioner, who was store in charge, and the other accused, storekeeper, were convicted under Section 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act. The petitioner then moved SC. Allowing his appeal, the bench set aside his conviction and noted that the prosecution in this case had examined 62 witnesses, which was of no avail as the HC referred to only nine of such witnesses.

fied as Zakir Husaain, Mohd Azam and Mohd Mustaq, are also suspected of having provided ground support to terrorists linked with multiple high-profile attacks, including an attack targeting civilians.

'Serious lapse': Air India CEO summoned after 3 foreigners 'skip' immigration check

New Delhi, Agency: Centre has summoned Air India CEO after three foreign nationals departed India without undergoing mandatory departure immigration clearance, news agency Media reported, citing sources.

Sources told Media that the ministry of civil aviation has sought an explanation from the airline after the incident, terming it a "serious security and immigration-related lapse."

This comes after the civil aviation ministry issued a show-cause notice to the airline over alleged procedural lapses that allowed three Italian passengers to board a connecting flight from Delhi without completing immigration formalities earlier this month. Three Italian nationals fly into Delhi from Amritsar on September 4 and then, within an hour, depart for Munich on a codeshare Lufthansa flight from Delhi airport without the mandatory immigration check.

According to the ministry, the incident occurred during Air India's hub-and-spoke operation and involved a violation of the prescribed Standard Operating Procedure. Amritsar airport is among the airports where Air India operates flights under its 'Hub-and-Spoke' model.

3 Italian passengers fly out of Delhi without immigration clearance: What exactly happened

New Delhi, Agency: The civil aviation ministry has issued a show-cause notice to Air India over alleged procedural lapses that allowed three Italian passengers to board a connecting flight from Delhi without completing immigration formalities earlier this month. The notice has been issued to Air India CEO Campbell Wilson.

The home ministry has also convened a meeting of stakeholders on Tuesday to discuss the incident, sources told news agency Media.

The three passengers flew from Amritsar to Delhi on September 4 before boarding a Lufthansa flight to Munich from Delhi airport. However, they did not complete the required immigration formalities at the airport, sources added.

Titled "violation of SOP for hub and spoke operations resulting in three foreign nationals departing India without mandatory immigration clearance," the show-cause notice issued to Air India last Saturday said the three passengers arrived in Delhi from Amritsar on AI 1115 at 12.50 am on September 4 and subsequently departed for Munich on a codeshare Lufthansa flight at 1.45 am, within an hour of their arrival.

Home Secretary Govind Mohan will chair a meeting on Tuesday to discuss the incident. The secretary and additional secretary of the civil aviation ministry, Intelligence Bureau director, additional secretary (UT and Foreigners) of the home ministry, Bureau of Immigration commissioner, Air India CEO and Delhi airport CEO are expected to attend the meeting, they added.

What exactly happened? Amritsar airport is among the airports where Air India operates flights under its 'Hub-and-Spoke' model. Under this arrangement, passengers complete immigration formalities at the airport of origin and can then travel to an overseas destination through a designated hub. At the hub airport, where the international flight departs, passengers are required only to undergo security checks before boarding. For a passenger travelling from Amritsar via Delhi to an international destination, Amritsar serves as the spoke and Delhi as the hub.

In the case of the three Italian passengers, sources said they were issued boarding passes at Amritsar for both their flight to Delhi and the Lufthansa flight to Munich.
