Follow the drug. Find the network. Go to the source. We are strengthening #OperationToofan with a dedicated Anti-Narcotics Investigation Team to investigate high-value drug trafficking cases with interstate and international links. Led by IG Putta Vimaladitya, three specialised units in Thiruvananthapuram, Ernakulam and Kozhikode will focus on tracing the kingpins, networks and sources behind the trade. The seizure is not the end of an investigation. It is where the trail begins.

Alcohol seizure: Anto Augustine in excise custody

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kalpetta

REPORTER TV managing director Anto Augustine has been sent to excise custody in connection with the seizure of 67 litres of liquor from his ancestral home at Vazhavatta in Karapuzha. The Bathery Judicial First Class Magistrate Court on Saturday granted the Excise Department his custody for 24 hours for further interrogation and investigation.

Soon after being taken into custody, Anto was brought to his family residence, 'Moonganani house', at Vazhavatta, where Excise officials conducted an evidence-gathering exercise. The procedure continued for nearly four hours, after which he was taken to the District Assistant Excise Commissioner's office at Meenangadi for further interrogation.

The Excise Department had sought four days' custody, stating that a detailed investigation was required to trace the source of the seized liquor, including how the accused obtained the foreign liquor, the route used to transport it into Kerala, and the individuals, middlemen and distribution networks involved. The custody application said that if the investigation established that the liquor had entered Kerala through a particular airport, seaport or shipping route, the accused would need to be taken to those locations for on-site inspection to gather further evidence and identify the persons and establishments involved. The prosecution also pointed to the seizure of 12 litres of illicit liquor from the house. However, the court granted custody only for 24 hours, from noon on Saturday to noon on Sunday. Northern Zone Excise Joint Commissioner Y Shibu told the media that the department could seek an extension if key procedures remained incomplete.

During the court proceedings, the defence reiterated its earlier contention that due procedures were not followed in Anto's arrest. The defence argued that Anto was not present at the premises when the raid was conducted and was in Ernakulam at the time.

The defence also maintained that the building from which the liquor was seized had been sold on June 30, 2022, under SARFAESI proceedings and was no longer owned by Anto. The Bathery Magistrate Court had earlier rejected Anto's bail plea, relying on the building certificate issued by the Muttil grama panchayat. Meanwhile, the High Court, which considered Anto's bail plea on Friday, sought details from the government and adjourned the hearing to September 22.

Remark against CM: Anto seeks anticipatory bail

T'Puram: Anto Augustine moved court seeking anticipatory bail in the case registered against him in his 'second marriage' remark against Chief Minister V D Satheesan. The bail application was submitted before the Thiruvananthapuram District Court on Saturday. Even though the case was registered by the Thiruvananthapuram City Cyber Police based on a complaint filed by Congress member Raju P Nair with a zero-FIR, officials said that it had already been transferred to Kalamassery police station in Ernakulam, as the remark was made at a place coming under its jurisdiction. The issue began on Wednesday, when police officers from the SIT raided Reporter TV office and the residence of Anto Augustine in connection with the Messi visit row. Following this, Anto made the controversial remark while responding to the media.

Over 90,000 queries in four weeks, state police's CyberWall is a big hit

Chatbot analyses data provided and matches those with ones under police surveillance

ASWIN ASOK KUMAR @T'Puram

SIGNIFYING Keralites awareness about cybercrimes, the Keralam Police have received a whopping 90,532 queries on their CyberWall chatbot within four weeks of launch.

The chatbot, with the mobile number +91 94979 64163 was launched on August 18 and is available on WhatsApp and Telegram. Even as users called up the number enquiring about phone calls, text messages, website links and applications that they came across daily, CyberWall got a boost after promotion by social media influencers focusing on tech-based content.

Cyber operations officials attributed the overwhelming response to the decision to move to a space where people are more active, rather than sticking to conventional awareness methods. In fact, daily queries have now risen to 10,893, which fluctuates based on outreach activities, said officials.

So how does it work? Well, people can send any input – text, image or audio – which they suspect to be a fraud to the CyberWall chatbot on Telegram or WhatsApp. It analyses the data, including mobile numbers, UPI IDs, bank account details, message sender, links, IP addresses and e-mail IDs, provided through the chat and matches those with ones that are blacklisted or under police surveillance.

Other commonly-seen hints of scams – websites with less traffic, options to enter OTPs, applications not listed in the Play Store – is also monitored based on the input. If any of the information is flagged as linked to a cyber fraud attempt, people are immediately alerted to register a case.

Most common queries reaching CyberWall are about links that claim a telecom firm is providing new offers, or ones that ask users to share a link to a certain number of people to win an iPhone and the like.

"The move has helped people of all generations," Cyber Operations SP Ankit Asokan told TNIE.

"The approach aimed at spreading awareness among people in a space where they are active. Not all will think to check whether a message they got is fake or not. But here, the government and police are on the other side to do that work, to check if the sender is a scammer. People consider this a reliable and easily accessible option," he said.

Ever vigilant

People can send text, image or audio which they suspect to be a fraud to the CyberWall chatbot

Woman throws two kids into open well; nephew dies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

UPPINANGADY Police have arrested a 28-year-old woman for allegedly throwing two children, including her three-year-old daughter, into a well at Perne following a quarrel with her husband on Saturday. One of the children, her sister-in-law's son, died in the incident.

The arrested is Noorunisa, 28, while the deceased child has been identified as Rabik, 3. Her daughter Aliya, 3, who was also thrown into the well, was rescued and is undergoing treatment. She is reported to be in a stable condition.

According to the police, Noorunisa had an argument with her husband Sinan, who works as a mechanic at Perne, over a marital dispute during a phone conversation on Saturday. Following the quarrel, she allegedly threw both children into a well located in the front yard of their house in a fit of rage.

The incident came to light after residents nearby heard the children screaming and rushed to the spot. Local residents rescued both children from the well and shifted them for medical attention. However, Rabik died, while Aliya survived.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @T'Puram

IN A bid to boost the morale of the police personnel and foster public participation in policing activities, the Kerala Police has decided to honour police officers who showcase remarkable performance in their duty and commoners whose contributions have helped the smooth functioning of the force. Officers who demonstrated good service, model conduct, remarkable investigative skills, acts of bravery, and dedicated performance in duty during the preceding month will be presented with appreciation certificates, mementos, or other suitable recognitions in a public gathering.

Commoners who made notable contributions, such as working for public safety or offering valuable assistance to the police, will also be honoured in the ceremony, which will be held at district/unit headquarters. Reports and photographs must be submitted to the ADGP (law and order) within the same month.
