CNN, MS NOW, Politico allowed back in House after judge order

NEW YORK

CNN, MS NOW and Politico were allowed back into the White House on Thursday, six days after being banned by Donald Trump, after a federal judge ordered that the journalists have their access restored.

District Judge Timothy Kelly ruled overnight that revoking the White House press credentials of the three media outlets "likely violated their constitutional due process rights."

Reporters for CNN, MS NOW and Politico who attempted to return to the White House early Thursday were initially turned away by the Secret Service but were allowed in later around midday.

Journalists from other outlets surrounded CNN's tent on the White House driveway and filmed reporter Betsy Klein as she reported live following her return. "Welcome back," several journalists said.

CNN, MS NOW and Politico had requested an urgent court hearing on Thursday after their reporters were initially barred from the White House despite the judge's order. AFP

Trump rolls out red carpet for Xi as WH visit blends pomp with AI talks

Military review, red-themed banquet, granddaughter's prominent seat add colour to state visit

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump rolled out an elaborate White House welcome for Chinese President Xi Jinping on Thursday, with a military review, flyover and lavish state dinner underscoring the pomp surrounding a visit otherwise expected to yield few major breakthroughs.

Trump and Xi, meeting at the White House for the first time, were greeted with trumpets before reviewing troops in the Rose Garden. Trump had also personally welcomed Xi at Joint Base Andrews on Wednesday, an unusual gesture for a visiting foreign leader and the first time in more than six decades that a US president had welcomed a foreign head of state in person there.

The state dinner in the White House East Room featured red decorations reflecting the colour's longstanding cultural significance in Chinese history. Tables were set with rich red linens and Reagan-era china, while the menu included sesame-crusted sea bass, braised bok choy and roasted eggplant, followed by White House honey ice cream. American tenor Christopher Macchio and US military musicians were to provide the entertainment.

The ceremonial touches extended to the guest list, with Trump's 15-year-old granddaughter Arabella seated prominently during the presidents' opening remarks. Arabella had previously sung in Mandarin for Xi when the Chinese leader visited Mar-a-Lago during Trump's first term. Xi also announced that two giant pandas would soon arrive at Zoo Atlanta, calling panda loan programmes an "envoy of friendship". But beyond the pageantry, Xi used his opening remarks to call for greater communication between the two countries and said Washington and Beijing must "hold the line of no conflict and no confrontation". He said the two sides, despite differences in their national conditions, could understand each other better through continued dialogue, seek common ground and build mutual trust.

Xi also put artificial intelligence high on the agenda, saying the US and China had both the capability and responsibility to develop and manage AI for good and ensure that its development remained under human control and served people's well-being.

The two countries had held their first dialogue on AI earlier this week, with Washington proposing a notification mechanism for national security-related AI incidents. Agencies

US-China trade truce extended by 2 years

WASHINGTON: The US and China have agreed to extend their trade-war truce by two months to January 10, US Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent said Wednesday. The deal, reached last year in Busan, South Korea, had been due to expire on November 10. Bessent said both sides were still working towards a broader economic agreement, while China has yet to confirm the extension. The extension comes as Trump and Xi prepare for White House talks Thursday, with trade expected to feature prominently in their discussions.

8 suicide bids on US carrier amid record time at sea

WASHINGTON

EIGHT sailors attempted suicide while deployed with the USS Abraham Lincoln aircraft carrier strike group, which spent a record-setting uninterrupted time at sea supporting the Iran war, the Navy's top civilian leader said this week.

Acting Navy Secretary Hung Cao provided the information to Sen Kirsten Gillibrand in a letter dated Tuesday after the New York Democrat inquired last month about the strike group's crew of thousands.

The Lincoln's extended deployment drew the nation's attention following reports of crew stress and poor mental health, as well as supply shortages, including food and hygiene products. Gillibrand asked Cao specifically if there were any suicides.

"There have been no suicides on board during this deployment," Cao wrote in the letter, which was obtained by The Associated Press and reported earlier by CNN.

"Since the beginning of LINCOLN'S deployment, there have been a total of eight suicide attempts across the strike group - this number includes the LINCOLN crew and Sailors from the carrier wing, strike group and destroyer squadron staff, escorting destroyers, and all embarked aviation squadrons."

Donald Trump had downplayed reports about conditions on the Lincoln, which left its homeport in San Diego in November, arrived in the West Asia in January in support of Iran operations, and spent a record-setting uninterrupted time at sea of more than 260 days. PTI

Saudi intercepts 6 missiles as Houthi attacks escalate

CAIRO: Six ballistic missiles targeting Saudi Arabia's port of Yanbu on the Red Sea and the southwestern city of Taif have been intercepted, a Saudi military spokesperson said Thursday, blaming Iran-backed Houthi rebels in neighbouring Yemen as fighting escalates.
