4 women wrestlers contest Brij Bhushan's acquittal

New Delhi: Four women wrestlers have challenged the acquittal of former Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) president Brij Bhushan Singh and its former secretary, Vinod Tomar, in a sexual harassment case, calling the Aug 3 order "unsustainable in law" and based on a "manifestly erroneous and selective appreciation of the evidence on record".

The criminal revision petition was filed through senior advocate Rebecca John before special judge Digvinay Singh of Rouse Avenue Courts and is scheduled to come up for hearing Saturday.

The plea said the acquittal judgment was based on "conjectures and surmises" instead of well-settled principles of law. The petition submitted that the "magisterial order, in material part, rests its reasoning on archaic and stereotypical assumptions about the expected behaviour of victims of sexual assault and harassment, rather than on a fair, evidence-based assessment after taking into account the circumstances of the victims".

In Aug, additional chief judicial magistrate Ashwini Panwar had acquitted Singh of charges under sections 354 (outraging a woman's modesty), 354A (sexual harassment) and 506 (Part-I) (criminal intimidation) of Indian Penal Code, observing that the prosecution had failed to establish the allegations against him beyond reasonable doubt. Tomar was acquitted of the charge under IPC 506 (Part-I).

The order had questioned the complaints as "tailor-made formal complaints drafted in fancy manner with similar excessive decoration". It also said, "The allegations appear to be imperfect to be true, seem rehearsed and well-practised as well as planted, more so when the complaints have been filed after a long period of time."

The court had also cited the survivors' continued friendly relations with the accused after the alleged incidents as "unnatural" conduct, besides pointing to other material discrepancies. They included the survivors reportedly not accompanying police to identify the exact locations of the alleged crimes, or refusing to do so in writing, the silence of eyewitnesses, including police officers and family members, and the failure to report the incidents for years.

The women wrestlers had accused Singh of sexual harassment, with the alleged incidents said to have occurred between 2016 and 2019 at the WFI office, his official residence and abroad.

Delhi Police had filed a chargesheet against Singh and Tomar, while a cancellation report was filed in a related Pocso case registered against Singh by a minor wrestler.

Platform to assess properties' digital connectivity readiness

Trai chairman Anil Kumar Lahoti said: "The digital connectivity rating platform establishes a transparent and standardised framework for assessing the digital connectivity readiness of properties. By making ratings publicly searchable and verifying the certificates, the platform will empower consumers with credible and comparable information. It will help them make more informed choices about homes and offices with strong and reliable connectivity, supporting smoother calls, downloads and access to online services. It will also enable consumers to recognise the value of digital connectivity infrastructure built into a property, while encouraging property managers to plan such infrastructure at appropriate stage of property development."

The platform offers a public rating search page where consumers can search for a rated property by property name, or location. They can view the property's digitally signed rating certificate and verify its authenticity through the QR code provided on the certificate.

"Property managers can register their properties in category of public, govt, commercial, private, submit rating applications, upload the prescribed information and documents, select a registered DCRA and track the status of their application through the platform. The platform supports the prescribed assessment workflow for both constructed and under-construction properties," Trai stated. Field assessments will be done through a DCRA app. DCR framework considers parameters such as fibre readiness, mobile network availability and Wi-Fi infrastructure.

Suspects opened fire on police, cops shot both men in legs

Nazim soon returned to Purkazi bypass with his brother-in-law, Sawez (21), who recognised the victim as Rohan, son of Hariti village pradhan. Fearing that Rohan had identified them, the duo covered his nose and mouth, suffocating him to death.

They then fled with Rohan's bike, phone and smartwatch. Rohan's body was discovered in a roadside field in Hariti village Thursday morning. By analysing CCTV footage and mobile tower location data, police quickly zeroed in on the suspects.

The breakthrough came during a pre-dawn checkpoint operation near Bhainsani bridge Friday, when police spotted two men travelling separately in a car and on a motorcycle. When signalled to stop, the duo attempted to flee. However, the motorcycle skidded and fell while the car jammed against roadside bricks.

Cornered, the suspects opened fire on the police, who retaliated in self-defence, shooting both men in the legs. They were subsequently apprehended and hospitalised.

NGO moots one-month transition period for cos to redesign packaging

In a rejoinder filed in SC Friday, the NGO said this would be nearly six years after FSSAI's Sept 2022 draft regulations. The NGO proposed a 1-month transition period for companies to redesign packaging, with stickers being allowed on existing stock. It also opposed allowing manufacturers to build up stocks of unlabelled packs during this period.

It urged the court to treat the regulatory process initiated in 2022 as continuing rather than begin another open-ended consultation. It pointed out that the 2022 draft had already received more than 14,000 comments and was subsequently examined by an expert committee. It said the 365-day voluntary period would serve little purpose, as companies were unlikely to voluntarily display warnings while competitors did not, and urged that the requirement be made mandatory after allowing a month's time for packaging transition. The NGO has also sought changes to the design proposed by FSSAI.

It wants a separate hexagon for each nutrient of concern instead of putting two or three nutrients inside a single hexagon. It has also sought pictorial representations, such as a salt shaker, sugar cubes or an oil symbol, alongside the warnings in English and Hindi. The petitioner also said FSSAI's proposal does not currently provide a warning for ultra-processed foods (UPF) or a timeline for defining them. It cited a 2026 proposal from Colombia for a separate front-of-pack indicator for ultra-processed products.

Syama Prasad in, Singur out of school syllabus in Bengal

A chapter on Singur will no longer be part of class 8 history textbook. Instead, a chapter on formation of West Bengal, highlighting Syama Prasad Mookerjee's contribution, will be included. The move comes after chief minister Suvendu Adhikari had hinted at revising the syllabus of state schools. TNN
